

Monday

Today we have been hiking through the densest part of the forest. There are lots of places for a predator to hide around here. We found some scratch marks on a tree. By the length of them I would say they were left by a

