

CAREER PROFILE:

Senior Regional Field Programme Manager

Job Title	Field Programme Manager
Work experience	I have worked for the last 15 years trying to prevent or reduce human wildlife conflicts involving elephants, tigers and leopards.
What skills you need to do your job	Planning, good at facilitating and coordinating people and projects. Also need to have good and current knowledge of my subject.
How do you apply 'preventing extinction' in your job?	Everything I do through my projects on human wildlife coexistence, focuses ultimately on preventing extinction of these species.
Top tip for getting a career in conservation	Focus and keep working at what you are most interested in...you'll get there!
Interests outside of work	Building and flying drones; painting and photography...especially of space objects millions of light years away.
Interesting fact	Our conservation activities are focused on six regions across the globe, which represent some of the planet's most biodiverse and highly threatened ecosystems.
